Tires that did not require setting in thirty years—on a Studebaker

WHEELS are the life of a wagon. Hubs, spokes, felloes and tires of the best materials, put together by skilled workmen, go into every Studebaker.

What is the result? Mr. William H. Horton, of Nineveh, N. Y., writes that the tires on his thirty-six year old Studebaker farm wagon did not need resetting in thirty years—and the wagon was in use every day.

We can prove to you that this is not an exceptional Studebaker wagon. There are thousands of Studebaker wagons in use today that are forty years old and more. And that have cost their owners little or nothing for repairs.

Come in and look over our stock of Studebaker vehicles. Let us show you how well they are built.

A communication from the Maysville Water Co., was read, which protested against the use of the fire hydrants for the purpose of sprinkling the streets and serving notice upon the city that it would be responsible for all damage done to the Water Company's system. Before offering the ordinance fixing the tax levy for the year, Mr. Thomas, chairman of the Laws and Ordinance Committee, offered a motion to not add $4,000 in the tax budget for a new fire hall on Limestone street and for the proper apportionment to be made at once, the building being started as soon as possible. The motion aroused as much discussion as occurs at a woman's meeting when styles are the subject. A vote on the motion stood as follows:

Yes—Easton, Gantley, Smith, Harrison, Thomas.

No—Cabilish, Conrad, Greenlee, Davis, Russell, Watkins.

The vote being six to five the Mayor declared the motion lost.

Mr. Thomas then introduced the ordinance fixing the tax levy for 1917. The ordinance provided for the following:

A levy of 25 cents on each $100 worth of taxable property for taking up bonds and paying the interest thereon.

A levy of 50 cents on each $100 worth of taxable property for school purposes.

A levy of 75 cents on each $100 worth of taxable property, together with license taxes, rents, fines and costs and wharfage, for the current and necessary expenses of the city.

A poll tax of $1.50 on each male in the city over the age of 21 years.

A motion to receive the ordinance was carried by a vote of seven to four, Messrs. Easton, Harrison, Smith and Thomas. A motion to suspend the rules was lost the same gentlemen voting against the motion. (Rules of the Council require a vote of eight members to suspend the rules.)

A motion was then made to adopt the budget as read, it being carried by a vote of seven to four.

Some discussion was then entered into concerning sewers in various parts of the city. The matter was referred to the Internal Improvement Committee.

On motion Mr. John Sapp was allowed to use the grounds on the north side of the railroad at the foot of Wall street for the purpose of a garden.

The resignation of Walter Scott as janitor in the Council room was received. He agreed to remain in that capacity until a successor is obtained however.

The Laws and Ordinance Committee was instructed by the Council to bring in an ordinance requiring automobile owners to dim their lights while in the city limits.

A second motion to suspend the rules on the ordinance fixing the tax levy was lost by a like vote.

Council adjourned.

MANUFACTURERS AND THE WAR

The limit of our national forbearance has now been reached, and we have been forced to enter the war thrust upon us by the autocracy of a great nation. Toward the German people, there can be no feeling of hatred; for, without doubt, an overwhelming majority of them abhor the war and execrate the author of it, while those who have been stirred to deeds of violence were incited by the false ideas and false dissimulations by the Imperial German Government.

Why, then, do we fight? Because this same Imperial German Government has forced war upon us; has ruthlessly destroyed the lives and property of our citizens; has incited the lawless elements of our population to riot and disorder; has plotted against our Government and the peace and prosperity of our people. These alone are sufficient causes for any nation to wage war, but it would then be purely a war of revenge, and as such lacking in all that atones for the terrible waste of life. Realizing this, our Government was not easily provoked to arms, did not enter the universal conflict until it was certain that the very principles and ideals upon which our Government was founded were at stake. Then we took our stand to maintain—as far as it rests with human power—our high ideals of liberty and democracy, not only for ourselves but for all the world.

In fighting for such a principle, there can be no hatred or antagonism toward the people of any nation. Such a purpose calls out all that is best and highest, and to the manufacturers of the United States the appeal shall not be in vain. They pledged to the Government all that they possess of material resources, to be organized and mobilized for its immediate needs; their services in the field of business and battle—and, if need be, their very lives. The offer is made without conditions, without reservations, without equivocation. We are confident that it represents the sentiment not only of the members of the National Association of Manufacturers, but of the manufacturers in every line of industry throughout the entire country.—American Industries.

A PROFITABLE INVESTMENT

People generally have to be urged to do what's good for them. That's the case with the Liberty Bonds. The public is buying them chiefly as a patriotic duty, and nearly all the campaigning is based on the plea of patriotism. As a matter of fact, plain business sense ought to suffice. They're a "good buy."

Some short-sighted persons are saying they can't afford to put their money into war bonds at 3½ per cent when they can get 5 or 6 or 7 per cent in other lines of investment. There are three important facts that they ignore. One is that the government bonds are absolutely the safest investment in the world, and their safety adds to their intrinsic and market value. Another is that they are free from taxation—a highly significant factor, at a time when heavy war taxes are being laid on nearly every other form of investment. Moreover, according to Jacob Schiff, one of the foremost financial authorities in America, these bonds are almost sure to rise in value.

If the war is a short one, says Mr. Schiff, the Liberty Loan Bonds are "absolutely certain to go to a considerable premium." If the war is long, later bond issues will bear a higher rate of interest. Then the present issue will automatically rise to the same rate, and bear interest at 4 per cent, or 4½ per cent, or whatever the highest future rate may be.

So, whether patriotic or business motives are stronger, it comes to the same thing: Buy Liberty Bonds!

So far as babies are concerned, you know what you think of your baby. You ought to feel that way about your town.

If a man will drop the "t," that will make "this" town "his" town; and dropping the hammer will do the same thing.

The way to get money out of land is to improve it. The way to get good out of this community is to develop it.

Remember there is one big difference between this town and all other towns: This town is where you live.

"Yesterday is gone, tomorrow may never come." This day is your best opportunity. So is this town.

The easiest way to make things right at Washington is to begin by making things right at home.

GLAD TO TESTIFY

Says Watoga Lady, "As To What Cardui Has Done For Me, So As To Help Others."

Watoga, W. Va.—Mrs. S. W. Gladwell, of this town, says: "When about 15 years of age, I suffered greatly. . . Sometimes would go a month or two, and I had terrible headache, backache, and bearing-down pains, and would just drag and had no appetite. Then . . . it would last . . . two weeks, and was so weakening, and my health was awful."

My mother bought me a bottle of Cardui, and I began to improve after taking the first bottle, so kept it up till I took three . . . I gained, and was well and strong, and I owe it all to Cardui. I am married now and have 3 children. . . I have never had to have a doctor for female trouble, and just resort to Cardui if I need a tonic. I am glad to testify to what it has done for me, so as to help others."

If you are nervous or weak, have headaches, backaches, or any of the other ailments so common to women, why not give Cardui a trial? Recommended by many physicians. In use over 40 years. Begin taking Cardui today. It may be the very medicine you need.

FEDERAL TAX ON AUTOS LEVIED BY SENATE BODY

Washington, June 1—Exemption of popular priced moving picture theaters from amusement taxes and the levying of a Federal license tax on automobile owners ranging from $7.50 to $25, with reduction for cars used a year or more, were agreed upon today by the Senate Finance Committee in continuing the revision of the House war tax bill.

With its task virtually completed except for the newspaper and magazine sections, the committee tonight adjourned over to Monday so that Treasury experts may spend tomorrow putting the redrafting into legal shape. The bill probably will be ready for submission to the Senate early next week.

Tomorrow Senator Simmons, chairman, and Senator Penrose, ranking Republican member, will confer informally with representatives of publishers and Postoffice Department officials regarding the proposed taxation of publications in lieu of the increased second class mail rates in the House bill.

Under the committee's arrangement, all moving picture theaters charging less than 25 cents admission would escape the tax of 1 cent on each dime charged.

BRINGS BACK GLAD TIDINGS

(Honolulu News)

Mr. J. J. Veatch, District Manager of the Central Home Telephone and Telegraph Company, Mr. W. H. Cannon, local manager, and Mr. Thomas K. Smith, cashier, have returned from Louisville, where they attended the tenth annual convention of the Southern States Independent Telephone Association held at the Louisville Hotel last week.

Mr. Veatch reports, among many other good things in connection with the convention, his instructions to authorize a good substantial increase to all of the worthy employees in the Eastern District where no increases had been made since the first of the year, which, together with those made since the first of the year means an increase for all employees, at Paris, Carlisle, Cynthiaana, Maysville, Lawrenceburg, Frankfort and Owen, as these are the offices operating directly under Mr. Veatch's personal supervision. This was quite a surprise to a number of the worthy employees, and useless to say appreciated as it was expressed by one employee "wished we would have conventions all the time."

LUTHERAN CHURCH LEADERS ADJOURNED TO MEET JUNE 15

Harrisburg, Pa., June 5—After two days of preliminary discussions at which questions arising in a proposed new constitution were thrashed out, leaders of the three national divisions of the Lutheran church, late tonight adjourned their conference. Their only action was an agreement to reconvene here June 15, when a tentative constitution for merging the general synod will be considered. The general council of the United States Synod of the denomination will be finally agreed upon for presentation to the general bodies at their biennial meetings in the year.

AMERICANS IN BERLIN COURTEOUSLY TREATED

Berlin, June 3—Arthur Dunning, secretary of the American Association of Commerce and Trade of Berlin, where most Americans now in Germany are listed, in a statement to the Associated Press said that while Americans desiring to leave Germany are not being given special privileges over other nationalities, they are meeting with courtesy and good will on the part of officials when applying for permission to leave.

"I am unaware of any American being detained," Mr. Dunning said. "While no exceptions are being made, I have found that in many instances some existing regulations have been waived in their favor. There also have been modifications in the rules requiring Americans to report to the police, while American business men established here have informed the associations that they are not being molested from any direction."

BETTER SANITATION NEEDED FOR NAVAL TRAINING STATION

Chicago, June 3—Serious need of larger sanitary and medical facilities at the United States Naval Training station at Great Lakes, Ill., was pointed out in a report made by Dr. Frank Billings and which the Illinois State Council for Defense, of which he is a member, had under consideration today. The report asserted that the camp, as built for the housing of 1,500 men, was excellent, but that it is totally inadequate for its present population of 8,200 recruits.

An imperative need, it was said, is a contagious disease hospital and a diagnostic laboratory to detect carriers of meningitis and diphtheria.

RAILROAD COMPANIES

Handicap Coal Trade, According to Charles R. Moriarty, Formerly of the Cincinnati Division of the Chesapeake & Ohio.

Mr. Charles R. Moriarty, former trainmaster on this section of the C. & O. railroad now Western Manager of the Cabin Creek Consolidated Coal and Coke Co., of Cincinnati, Ohio, recently made the following address to a banquet given for coal operators:

To my mind, if there were ever a time when the necessity existed for an organization such as you gentlemen comprise it is the present. The unparalleled conditions surrounding the coal industry for the major portion of the past year, and which may unquestionably be expected to obtain for an indefinite period, make it highly important that the retail handlers of coal should take inventory and compare notes.

Coming together as you have, at this season, for the sober consideration of the problems with which you are confronted, is a worthy commentary on your business sagacity.

The manner in which your initial convention has been conducted, free from the customary horse play that is wont to attend meetings of this character, emphasizes your realization of the serious business you have had before you, and bodes well for the future interests of your association.

No man can become too thoroughly conversant with conditions affecting his business, and I feel that as a representative of a large producing company I may not be out of order if I endeavor to bring to your attention some facts pertinent to the present conditions affecting the coal industry as viewed from the shipper's standpoint. Naturally, I am chiefly familiar with statistics applying to the company I represent, and I will ask your indulgence if I make use of this data by way of illustration. In reality the same relative are applicable in the case of all mines in the Chesapeake & Ohio field.

Our Company operates twenty mines, having at this time an aggregate daily capacity of 10,100 tons, or in other words, 202 fifty-ton cars. These mine ratings are established and revised by the railroad company, who employ what is known as an allotment commission, whose duty it is to ascertain by actual tests and other investigations the maximum loading capacity of each mine. From this you will understand that these ratings represent as nearly as possible the actual daily productive capacity of the mines.

With a rated allotment of 198 fifty-ton cars, or 9,900 tons per day, we received in the month of January the equivalent of 10,888 full car supplies, and loaded but 10,725 tons; or putting it in another way, our mines ran the equivalent of 10,888 full days out of 27 working days in that month.

In the month of February, with an allotment of 10,000 tons, or 200 fifty-ton cars per day, we received the equivalent of 7.54 full car supplies; our mines working, in other words, 7.54 full days out of a possible 24 working days, and loaded 75,355 tons.

In the month of March, on an allotment of 10,000 tons per day, our mines worked the equivalent of 8.50 full days out of 27 working days, receiving in the aggregate 8.50 full car supplies, and loading 85,030 tons.

The figures for the first three weeks of the present month, April — the month which since time immemorial has invariably witnessed the coal business, in all its branches, at its lowest ebb, and with an over supply of cars, will serve as a startling index to what the immediate future promises in the direction of the car supply.

During this period, embracing 18 working days, and with a new allotment of 10,100 tons per day, our mines have received in the aggregate 5.20 full car supplies, and have worked, in other words, the equivalent of 5.20 full days.

Summarized, out of a grand total of 96 working days since January 1, we have been furnished only a sufficient number of cars to run our mines the equivalent of 32 days, or in other words, 33 per cent of our full capacity.

Some slight deviation is to be found as between the figures I have given and the records of the railway company, from the fact that under their system of car distribution the mines are penalized by added supply charges when, due to accidents or other causes they fail to load out currently all cars available.

I shall not comment on the increased cost of production necessarily resulting from this state of affairs. You can well appreciate how your handling costs would increase were you obliged to lock your gates three or four days out of every week, while your horses or auto trucks stood idle, with your overhead charges undiminished.

In presenting this data my purpose has been to attempt merely to acquaint you with some first-hand information indicative of the seriousness of the prevailing car shortage, and, my friends, there can be no overestimating the real seriousness of this situation.

Corroboration of the conditions I have depicted is to be found in reports of the United States Geological Survey, which recently undertook the publication of a monthly comparative statement relating to coal production.

For your information, these statements as now published embrace figures submitted monthly by some fifty-odd railroads, and cover approximately 65 per cent of the total shipments of bituminous coal in this country, and it is of course reasonable to assume that the same relative comparison would apply in the case of the mining roads.

Selecting the statements covering the busiest six months of the year, or from September to February, inclusive, we find an increase in September, 1916, as compared with September, 1915, of 3,900 cars, something less than 200,000 tons; whereas in October, 1916, there were 25,000 less cars shipped than in the corresponding month of the previous year, or a decrease of two million and one-quarter tons.

In the month of November the decrease shown as compared with November, 1915, amounted in round numbers to 800,000 tons.

In December shipment of 488,166 cars were reported, as compared with 537,847 in December, 1915, a decrease of approximately 50,000 cars, or two and one-half million tons.

The figures for January, 1917, show a slight increase, about 300,000 tons, as compared with January of the previous year.

In February of this year 541,218 cars are reported, as against 537,434 in February last year, a decrease of over 50,000 cars, or approximately two and three-quarter million tons.

A recapitulation of these figures shows that over seven million tons less were shipped during the six months ending March 1 than during the corresponding period last year.

In the letter accompanying the first of these reports, Mr. George O. Smith, director of the Geological Survey, had this to say:

"In sending out this, the first monthly statement issued by the Geological Survey, relative to coal production in the United States, I believe that the Survey is furnishing the railroads and the coal industry, as well as the general public, information that is timely and valuable. It is well recognized that the rate of production of coal, like that of pig iron, is an important index of general industrial conditions, the trend which is being keenly watched today by all men of affairs. The statements are intended to furnish a basis for comparison of the fluctuations in coal shipments from month to month."

We are ready to agree with Mr. Smith that under normal traffic conditions, the rate of production of coal could be taken "as index to general industrial conditions," but in the present circumstances, with the demand and consumption at a higher ebb than ever before, the figures compiled by his Department, covering the period I have referred to, must be taken rather as an "index" to the deplorable transportation conditions throughout the country.

Further in connection with this subject, the report compiled by the American Railway Association, made public on March 22nd, gives some exceedingly interesting information of a retrospective character; this report shows that the net shortage of freight cars on March 1st was 124,973 as compared with a shortage of 109,988 on February 1st, an increase of 15,000 cars, and adds:

"For the whole period of nearly eight years preceding the middle of August of last year, there had been a continuous net of surplusage of cars not in use on American railroads, except for about one month in 1909, three months in 1912, one month in 1913, and the month of March last year. In 1908 there was at one time a surplusage of over 413,000 cars, and no time during the year were there less than 100,000 idle cars. From November, 1913, until March, 1915, until March, 1916, there was a continuous surplusage of cars, the number running in October, 1914, to over 200,000, when the figures became so large that the American Railway Association stopped compiling them. Compilation was resumed on February 1, 1915, when idle cars still numbered over 275,000."

The Daily Press of the 22nd inst. carried the following dispatch, dated New York, April 21st:

"The largest freight car shortage ever reported by American railroads existed April 1st. It was announced here today by the American Railway Association. The shortage on that date was 143,059 cars, an increase of 12,977 cars as compared with March 1st."

My friends, if you have entertained any doubt as to the actual existence of a car shortage of unprecedented proportions, the delusion is liable to prove a costly one if persisted in.

If we are ready to admit that there is a frightfully inadequate car supply, the question then is: What has brought about this condition? What is to be its effect in relation to the coal industry, and in particular to the retail branch of the business; and what course lies open in the way of a remedy?

The impetus felt in all lines of industry during the better part of the past years, and to which the great war has been the principal contributing factor, is of course well fixed in your minds.

The railroads as late as the forepart of 1916 were in a receptive condition for handling an increased business, and none of us experienced any inconvenience up to the latter part of July last, but since that time, and more notably during the recent winter months, the situation has been akin to Sherman's description of war:

"It has been hell." The railroads laboring under a volume of traffic unparalleled and undreamed of, broke down in pitiful fashion. Some of their defenders pointed out that for several years im-

CRYING FOR HELP

Lots of It in Maysville But Daily Growing Less.

The kidneys often cry for help. Not another organ in the whole body more delicately constructed; Not one more important to health. The kidneys are the filters of the blood.

When they fail the blood becomes foul and poisonous. There can be no health where there is poisoned blood.

Backache is one of the frequent indications of kidney trouble. It is often the kidney's cry for help.

Read what Doan's Kidney Pills have done for overworked kidneys. Read what Doan's have done for Maysville people.

Mrs. E. Sphar, E. Second and Walnut Sts., Maysville, says: "Whenever I have heard anyone complain of their kidneys, I have never seen Doan's Kidney Pills fail to help them. I have been greatly benefited by them myself. At times, my back has ached and I have suffered from lameness through the small of my back. When I have been in that way, I have used a box or so of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got at Chanslor's Drug Store. They have always quickly removed the trouble." Mrs. Sphar is only one of many Maysville people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you—don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS. The same that Mrs. Sphar had, the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c. all stores. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. "When Your Back is Lame—Remember the Name."

mediately this wonderful industrial boom, the transportation lines of the country, harassed on the one side by promissuous and mischievous legislation, and on the other hand, by increased expenses and decreased earnings, were without the means with which to increase their facilities.

Be that as it may, the lamentable fact is with us, and has been with us daily, for the better part of a year, that the railroads have proven themselves physically unprepared to render anything approaching the maximum service necessary to handle the present commerce of the country and collectively unable to cope with the new order of things.

We are merely wasting time in complaining about the railroads. They may eventually be brought up to a state somewhere near adequate, whether through government control, improved methods, or otherwise, but it is sheer folly to hope that increased facilities sufficient to meet the present ratio of business, can be provided within the next one or two years. We are face to face with a condition which is vitally affecting all of our interests, and it is the present with which we have to deal.

We are at least partially familiar with some of the causes that have brought about this condition, and we are regretfully conversant with its effect upon the coal industry in particular. The problem confronting us is to seek to apply a remedy that will at least minimize, if not prevent a recurrence, during the coming fall and winter, of the distressing experience through which we have but lately emerged; and that remedy, my dear friends, so far as the domestic business is concerned, lies principally in your hands.

The coal operator is powerless, because he is at the mercy of the railroads. No immediate improvement in transportation conditions can be expected unless there is a check to our present industrial activity. Any remedy so far as the immediate distribution of coal for domestic purposes is concerned, rests in the hands of the retailer. He must acquaint his customers in thorough fashion with the imperative necessity of taking their coal, and in the maximum quantity, as quickly as possible within the next ninety days. In my opinion but little urging in this direction will be necessary. In any event, I am thoroughly convinced from what I know of the spirit of this Organization, that you gentlemen have been quick to recognize the exigency of the situation, and will find and employ the means to cope with it.

Not only will it be to your individual interest to push forward in every possible manner the early deliveries of household coal, but your duty to society demands your best efforts in this direction. If among your customers there should be any who are unwilling to give heed to your advice in this respect, the responsibility will be theirs, if their negligence results in hardship and possible suffering next winter.

Permit me to extend to the members of the Indiana Retail Coal Merchants' Association my hearty congratulations on the remarkable progress it has made. I sincerely hope, and I fully believe, that when another year has rolled around, and the occasion of your Second Annual Convention shall have arrived, this Organization, sustained by the lively interest of its membership, and aided by the intelligent efforts of its officers, will stand in the front rank among the Retail Coal Associations of this country.

And may we not all join in the hope my countrymen, that one the time you again assemble, the frightful holocaust drenching the battle fields of Europe with the blood of countless thousands, at which humanity has stood appalled, will have been brought to an end through the instrumentality of the might, and the God-given right of America; and who shall begrudge to those unfortunates, oppressed with the yoke of despotic tyranny, that cherished inspiration of joy and pride which swells in our hearts, and which God has ordained shall come to them, when we raise our voices in chorus in that glorious anthem:

"My country, 'tis of thee, Sweet land of liberty."

A coat of paint will sometimes make an old house look almost as good as new, but the same rule doesn't apply to a woman.

AMMONIA TANK BURSTS

In the Basement of the Central Meat Market—Fire Department Called Out.

Last night about 11 o'clock the fire department was called to the Central Meat Market on Market street where an ammonia tank had burst.

The engine of the refrigerating plant of the building got out of order in some manner and began running at a very high rate of speed. The tank was burst in some manner and the fumes of the ammonia soon filled the building in the basement and first floor, driving out all of the occupants.

Efforts were made to enter the first floor by the firemen but they were unable to do this on account of the poisonous fumes. Some one later entered the building from the rear and succeeded in stopping the engine. The fumes of the ammonia were very strong and it was sometime before entrance to the building could be gained.

The appearance of Mrs. Frank Wells at the window of the second floor, gave the firemen the impression that she was suffering from the fumes. A ladder was raised to the second floor but it was learned that she suffered no inconvenience.

BABY WEEK

Yesterday afternoon a very comprehensive display was placed in the Chamber of Commerce by Miss Casey, Health Nurse, in connection with 'Baby Week' which opened Monday.

The display at the Chamber of Commerce is most interesting showing the correct method of caring for babies in place of incorrect methods now in common use. Methods of feeding, care, clothing, etc., are illustrated and injurious methods exposed.

There is also a large amount of literature prepared by the foremost health authorities, which are free to everyone and all mothers are invited to call at the Chamber of Commerce and see the display which will be on until Saturday.

WHAT BILLY SUNDAY SAYS

In one of his meetings at Boston the noted evangelist said, "I believe that every disease can be cured by some seed if we can only discover it. There is not an ailment that God hasn't somewhere an herb growing that will cure that ailment."

The choice medicinal herbs which will cure women's ailments were discovered more than forty years ago, and have been doing their beneficent work for half a century. Lydia E. Pinkham combined them in convenient form in her famous Vegetable Compound, which is to be found in the drug stores where every all-around woman may conveniently get it at small cost. It does the work!

The Baccalaureate Sermon of the Maysville High School will be under the auspices of the First Baptist Church and the choir of that church will practice an anthem on Wednesday and Saturday nights at 7:30 at the church. The singers of all the churches are invited to assist and report for practice as stated above. Mr. W. A. Munzing will be the director.

Mrs. D. N. Peebles, who was recently operated upon at Haywood Hospital is reported as improving nicely from the effects of the operation and will soon be able to be removed to her home on West Third street.

Miss Frances Cochran is a member of the class which will graduate this afternoon from Miss Kentrick's School at Cincinnati. Mrs. William D. Cochran left for Cincinnati this morning to attend the exercises.

The Young Peoples Missionary Society of the First M. E. Church, South, will meet this evening at 7:15 at Mrs. W. B. Campbell's on Third street.

Miss Cecelia Downey returned home last night from Rock Island, Ill., where she has been attending school at the Villa De Chantal.
